

Your support plays an important role in maintaining and promoting this Collection for the benefit of all.

PhiloLogie is more than your average friends' society – funds raised by the membership have supported a number of important projects including:

- Production of the Logie Collection Catalogue
- Purchase of exhibition cases
- Additions to the Collection

About

PhiloLogie Society, PhiloLogie or 'Friends of the Logie Collection' is a charitable trust that was established in 2003. Our members are Classics and museum enthusiasts who enjoy coming together to learn more about the ancient Graeco-Roman world. The society also fundraises, sponsors events, encourages research and organises activities that enhance the Logie Collection. PhiloLogie members care about classical antiquities and the future of the Collection. We are always looking for new members and new ideas.

The Logie Collection

In 1957 Marion Stevens, a Classics Lecturer, established the James Logie Memorial Collection at Canterbury University. The Logie Collection commemorates Marion's late husband James Logie, the Registrar of the College, who had died in 1956. Today the Logie Collection is widely regarded as one of the best teaching collections of classical antiquities in the Southern Hemisphere. Without doubt this Collection of antiquities is a treasure. It is on display in the Teece Museum of Classical Antiquities.
